

Our Head of Construction presents at key networking breakfast

Our Director and Head of Construction, Philip Graham, featured as a keynote speaker during an informative networking breakfast last week, at Parc y Scarlets.

The event, hosted by Nolan uPVC, examined the current state of the construction industry and the process of procurement within the public sector.

During his presentation, Philip Graham considered the legal implications and pitfalls that SMEs should be aware of when tendering for and working on commercial contracts, to ensure they are best placed to win work.

The event was well attended and featured other expert speakers' insights on the construction industry, as well as an introduction by Scarlets Chief Executive Mark Davies.

We're pleased that Philip Graham was selected to present his knowledge and expertise, helping businesses find out how to avoid the types of conflicts that can quickly develop into legal disputes.

Click here to find out more about how Philip and our construction team can help your business or follow us on Twitter @DJMSolicitors.

